

MCC Coronavirus student update for Thursday, May 28, 2020

Hello.

Due to Governor Whitmer's extension of the state's Stay Home order through June 12, Montcalm Community College has no choice but to move its summer classes to an online format. Classes begin June 1 and run for eight weeks.

We are deeply regretful that we have had to make this decision. Please know that we are doing everything we can to help you continue your educational journey during this unprecedented time of COVID-19.

We have been working with the Michigan Community College Association (MCCA) and the Governor's office in an attempt to allow us to be in-person for summer; however, it has become evident that this will not be allowed at this time.

In anticipation of this latest development, our faculty have been preparing to deliver summer classes online. We are committed to delivering the top-quality instruction that you deserve and expect from MCC. In addition, we will continue to provide our student support services online.

In an effort to still bring you the "in-person" experience, we are offering real-time viewing of some classes via the Internet. We have equipped many faculty members with technology that will allow some instructors to teach class at its scheduled time and students in those classes can tune in through the Internet to view the class and interact with the instructor and other students. Your instructor will provide instructions through your course information in Canvas if this option is available for your class.

Please continue to check your MCC student email and our website at www.montcalm.edu/coronavirus for updates.

Summer session is just 8 weeks – you can do this! We will be here every step of the way to help you!

If you have questions or concerns, please reach out directly to me by email at stacy.young@montcalm.edu or call my cell phone at 574-596-2781.

Thank you.
